

REVISTA DE

l i b r o s

Washington, DC, September 3, 2007

Dear Sir/Madame,

I am writing to introduce to you REVISTA DE LIBROS, a Spanish monthly magazine that offers in-depth analyses of current books on a broad spectrum of subjects published both in Spain and in other countries. The magazine, which was first issued in 1996, is sponsored by the Fundación Caja Madrid.

REVISTA DE LIBROS is not exclusively dedicated to literary fiction; it publishes essays, reviews, and comments on books and issues of general interest, written with the most rigorous approach by scholars and specialists in the areas of philosophy, art and aesthetics, mathematics, science, literature, anthropology, economics, sociology, and history.

In its first decade of existence, REVISTA DE LIBROS has established itself as the Spanish magazine of choice for well informed, intellectual readers. We are proud of our contribution to the dialogue that helps sustain the vitality of Spain's cultural life. Witness, the prestigious prizes the magazine has been awarded since its first year of publication: the National Prize for the Promotion of Reading (1997); the first Bartolomé March Critical Prize (2001); the News Magazines Association Price (2004); the Biodiversity Award (2005)—among others.

REVISTA DE LIBROS* will be formally presented to the American public in Washington, DC, on November 14, 2007, at 6:15 p.m., in the Auditorium Enrique Iglesias of the Inter-American Development Bank, 1330 New-York Avenue, N.W. We would be honored to have you with us at the presentation.

Sincerely,

Alvaro Delgado-Gal
Editor of Revista de Libros
